

JOINT COMPANY-UNION SAFETY COMMITTEE

December 2004

Dear Brothers & Sisters,

We are entering one of busiest times of D&D activities on site. In the past, most of the work has been performed in the buildings but that is not the case anymore. There are going to be even more semi-trucks hauling waste & debris and bringing in fill dirt than there are now. Moreover, the hours of daylight are shorter, and as you know, the weather conditions on site can change rapidly.

With the holidays just around the corner, our minds tend to wonder about other things rather than focusing on the task at hand. Please stay focused on your task and please keep an eye open for your brothers & sisters who might not be as focussed as you. There are some simple things you can do to help everyone be safe:

- When traveling on site, don't expect the trucks to see you, be prepared for the unexpected and use patience while traveling to and from your job site.
- Watch where you walk, is it uneven ground? Is there ice or snow on the path? Please be aware of changing conditions.
- If you find any unsafe conditions, practices, or areas that need attention, please contact any JCUSC representative and we will address these issues/conditions at once.

Please feel free to call me with any concerns.

Fraternally,
